Center for Positive Sexuality
Selected for a summer research internship, resulting in collaborations with:

- Dr. Liam Wignall of Bournemouth University: worked on projects about 24/7 BDSM and COVID-19, sexual activity, and technology; and
- Dr. Justin Mogilski from the University of South Carolina: worked on a project about consensual non-monogamy.

2020 — present — Co-Investigator
Psi Chi Network for International Collaborative Exchange (NICE)
Collaborates with an international team of researchers on preregistered, open-data, and open-materials projects, directing the New Mexico State University contribution effort as Principal Investigator and managing a team of master's and doctoral students on the following:

- worked Drs. Corey L. Cook and Jon Grahe of Pacific Lutheran University to explore beliefs and coping with COVID-19; and
- worked with Dr. Douglas Knutson of the University of Southern Illinois at Carbondale to explore how distance from urban centers affects the mental and behavioral health of minority-identified people, especially members of the LGBTQIA+ community.

2019 — present

Graduate Research Assistant
New Mexico State University, College of Education

Assists Dr. Leanna Lucero in the School of Teacher Preparation, Administration, and Leadership to explore (a) social justice in math education, (b) queer-inclusive pedagogy in elementary schools, and (c) the experience of transgender and bisexual parents within public schools; partners with Dr. Tracie Hitter (a) to review student analyses employing the listening guide as a technique and (b) to write and revise manuscripts on transgender sexual self-schemas; collaborates with Dr. Tracie Hitter and Dr. Na-Yeun Choi on a project exploring racism among African Americans and Asian Americans at a Hispanic-serving institution; collaborates with Dr. Eve Adams to analyze and report data from a multi-year mindfulness project using univariate statistics.

2019 — present

Graduate Researcher
New Mexico State University, Dept. of Counseling & Educational Psychology

Serves as a research leader for students in the department, initiating projects:

- analyzed data via team-based coding in QSR NVivo 1.0 with a group of doctoral students, applying inductive thematic analysis to discover how men who have sex with men (MSM) understand the stigma around pre-exposure prophylaxis (PrEP) use in the Southwest;
- directed a research project as PI about how sexual scripts become maladaptive in MSM using grounded theory;
- directed a qualitative project as PI exploring how survivors of childhood abuse use bondage, discipline, dominance, submission, and sadomasochism (BDSM) and/or kink to heal from, cope with, and transform trauma;
- directs a quantitative secondary analysis project as PI using the Colors of Pride dataset, a collaboration with Dr. Amy Stone;
- supervised 7 undergraduate research assistants for a total of 700 internship hours; and
- manages research teams of doctoral students.

2019 — present

Co-Investigator
Kink Identity and Sexuality Study (KISS Project)

Collaborates with a national team of researchers led by Dr. Richard Sprott of the Community-Academic Consortium for Research on Alternative Sexualities (CARAS): (a) to create a psychometric instrument of kink identity; (b) to conduct a national health survey of members of the kink and/or BDSM communities; and (c) to design an international kink health survey; performs univariate and multivariate procedures using R.

2018 — 2019 Volunteer Research Assistant
Columbus State University, Dept. of Psychology
Worked with Brandt A. Smith, Ph.D and two undergraduates to write and submit a manuscript on ingroup bias among MSM; served as PI for project on partner preferences of sexual minority men on geosocial networks; completed training in univariate statistics using Open Stats Lab, JASP, and the R programming language.

2011 — 2012 Undergraduate Research Assistant
University of Massachusetts Lowell, Dept. of Psychology
Worked with Jana Sladkova, Ph.D and two other research assistants exploring the effects of deportation on Spanish-speaking immigrants living in Lowell; reviewed literature; collected narratives from participants; transcribed narratives; performed content analysis using QSR NVivo 9.
